

United Australia Party statement to 7.30, 29 April 2019

A United Australia Party spokesperson said Mr Palmer is the most scrutinised individual in Australia.

His established track record of employing over 60,000 Australians over the last four decades and being one of Australia's self-made richest individual makes him the perfect leader to make Australia great again.

In relation Queensland Nickel, it was the administrators who, despite the direction of joint venture partners, refused to transfer employees and assets to a new operator, which would have allowed workers to keep their jobs.

Mr Palmer has made good to pay unpaid workers' entitlements despite neither he nor his companies being responsible for these sackings.

The establishment of the United Australia Party was all about giving Australians a choice. Australians are sick of the Liberal and Labour parties repeating the same thing over and over again for no change.
